Wisconsin Family Council Celebrates “America’s Heritage of Freedom”

Pro-family, pro-liberty organization to host event in Wausau

Madison – “Now more than ever Americans need to be reminded of the great heritage of freedom that we enjoy,” said Julaine Appling, president of Wisconsin Family Council. “I can’t think of anyone better than Wisconsin’s own Dr. Jake Jacobs to tell the grand story of America’s quest for liberty and her ongoing efforts to preserve that liberty.”

Wisconsin Family Council’s “America’s Heritage of Freedom” hors d’oeuvres event will be held on Thursday evening, November 3, at the Rose Garden in Wausau, Wisconsin. The event begins at 5:30 p.m. Dr. Jake Jacobs will be the featured speaker.

Dr. Jacobs is a popular teacher and public speaker with a passion for the truth about America’s heritage. As a young undergraduate student in the 1970s, Jake quickly realized his professors were selling him a revised history that covered up America’s exceptional place in world history.

Concerned about the attempts of organizations like the ACLU and the NEA to revise America’s Judeo-Christian foundation, Jake went on to earn an M.A. in Judeo-Christian Studies and eventually a Ph.D. in Early American History from Northwest University.

Dr. Jacobs spent over twenty years teaching in a Wisconsin public school, sharing with his students his passion for the truth about America—until his publicly stated position on recent Wisconsin political events moved him to resign. He continues his classroom work as an adjunct history professor at Lakeland College in Sheboygan.

Also attending as a special guest is State Senator Pam Galloway (R-Wausau).

“Our liberties are not free; they have come at great expense. Every generation that has come before us has paid a share of that price, but none have paid a higher price than our Founding Fathers. Wisconsin Family Council is proud to host ‘America’s Heritage of Freedom’ and to proclaim to all that we, like those who have gone before us, are ready to sacrifice in order to protect for future generations that ‘heritage of freedom.’”

Advance registration is required for the event. Online registration is available at www.wifamilyaction.com/events. To register by phone call Diane at 888-378-7395.
